Good morning

I refer to your Freedom of Information request sent to us on 25 July 2023 and our response of 25 July 2023 advising you that the OPCC does not hold any information as these programmes are funded at source. This information is correct.

It has however come to my attention that we did run a CAPVA service for young people who harm in the home. I have therefore attached the details of this below in case this is helpful to you.

Humberside Domestic Abuse Perpetrator Programme for the 2022/2023 Financial Year:

1. The Name/Title/ Who's in charge?

Scope of the commissioned programme in your area - RYPP accredited Programme to support young people from 8 to 24 years old who harm (in the home). This aspect of service is known as child adolescent perpetrator and violence service (CAPVA). Additional support is also provided to the whole family.

Supporting young people to modify their abusive behaviour and develop healthier and safer relationships, which consequently will result in fewer victims suffering the trauma of abuse, as well as reducing the harm to families and communities:

- Reducing the harm caused to families by domestic abuse, by changing the behaviour of individual perpetrators, leading to a reduction in abusive behaviour in the future. Done by using a neutral rather than a collusive or persecutory stance.
- Targeting interventions to areas and families most in need.
- Engaging with perpetrators and families who have patterns of repeat offending, including high risk cases, vulnerable children and adults.
- Offering individuals and families the opportunity to recognise, acknowledge and change behaviour in order to increase the safety of victims, parents, families and children.
